Classroom Jobs for All Students

Classroom jobs are good for everyone. They boost self-esteem, teach responsibility, and allow ALL students to feel a sense of belonging to their classroom community. Including ALL students in classroom jobs facilitates respect, presence, competence, and inclusion. Think about how you could adapt these jobs for a student who may need to do the job differently or with support.

Line Leader

Caboose

Office Assistant

Library Helper

Door Holder

Pencil Sharpener

Lights

Office Runner/Messenger

Paper Handler Outer

Schedule Prepper- Helps to update the shape of the day

Tech Assistant- All iPads or chrome books in the cart? Plugged in?

Substitute- Fills in for other jobs when a student is away

Calendar/Morning Meeting Leader

Absent Work Manager

Helper

Trash Monitor

Recycling Monitor

Classroom Pet Helper

Plant Helper

Chair Stacker

Breakfast/Snack Helper

Coatroom Monitor

Playground Equipment Manager

Whiteboard Manager

Examples of adaptations for inclusion in classroom jobs could include using a Water Pik and a Powerlink to water plants, or using a “buddy system” by having a peer assist with a task. Providing whatever level of support is required allows ALL students to participate in classroom jobs.
